2004 Season Review

(by Barry Smith) Capital Premier

The 2004 season was never really going to have any other ending than Miramar Rangers on top of the table. The disbanding of the National League – which Miramar had won the previous two seasons and finished as losing finalists in 2001 – threw the champions into a local competition with a standard considerably below that to which they were accustomed. To the credit of coach David Farrington (in his farewell season) and his charges, they performed to a consistently high level and won both the League and the Chatham Cup.

The side was built around a core of players who had significant National League experience and were quite simply a class above most of their opposition. Tim Butterfield, Graham and Bryan Little, Andy Hedge, Tariq Imam, Rupert Ryan and Dylan Hall all played major roles in a season that saw Miramar score more and concede fewer goals than anyone else. Graham Little netted 20 times in 17 games with brother Bryan contributing 15 goals. The only blot on a superb season was a solitary loss to Wellington United, but six first-choice players were absent at a wedding that weekend. Rangers were worthy champions, again setting the benchmark for football in the Capital.

Wellington Olympic chased Miramar all the way, finishing four points behind in second place. A 4-0 drubbing by Miramar in the first round was the low point of their season, but they more than held their own in the return match which finished 1-1. But for a draw with lowly Island Bay and an early loss to Petone, Olympic may have challenged even more strongly for the title. Geoff Brown was the league's top goal scorer, netting 23 times as well as a further 12 in Chatham Cup matches. Goalkeeper Dave Finlay, former Under-20 international James Duncan and midfield workhouse Karl Whalen were also ever-presents in the side. Only Miramar scored more goals than Olympic's 54, and the two teams conceded just 19 each. Possibly the most satisfying result of the season came in the last match when Brown scored both goals in a 2-1 win over Western Suburbs to secure Olympic second place.

Western Suburbs found themselves in a similar position to 2003, there and about but missing the bull's-eye. Always a quality side, they lost just two games – less than second placed Olympic – but it was a loss to that side on the last day of the season that consigned Wests to third place. Built around a solid defence which included the Team Wellington duo of goalkeeper Phil Imray and fullback/sweeper Jon Harahap as well as Alex Wilson, Wests conceded just 20 goals all season. However, until the arrival of American Devon Prescod (12 goals in 11 games) there was no striker able to knock in goals regularly. The emergence of Daniel Keat as a prospect for the future was encouraging and it led to a Team Wellington call-up for the teenager.

Lower Hutt City struggled hard to recapture the form which saw them sweep all before them to win the league in 2003. The loss of Englishman Stu Lochhead in midfield was a major blow, as was the departure of Mark Foster to become player/assistant-coach at Petone.

Nonetheless, Lower Hutt were always going to be in contention for a top four spot at the very least. Coached by club stalwart Phil Patterson who reached the milestone of 300 appearances during the season, Lower Hutt had solid performers in defenders Blair Patterson (player of the year) and Matt Adams and livewire winger Blair Easthope. Chilean Pedro Garcias (players' player of the year) again led the goal scorers with 18 goals in 15 games, but lacked the support of another consistent goal scorer. A patchy start which included an opening day loss and just three wins from their first six games was rectified with a run of seven wins from eight games, but losses in the closing stage of the season to sides above them, ended Lower Hutt's hopes of defending their title.

Petone enjoyed a cracking start to the campaign, winning four and losing just one of their first six matches. Many observers waited for the wheels to fall off and to an extent that happened. But Petone had done enough to secure fifth place and earn the opportunity to enter the playoffs for the new Central League. Paul Whitmarsh continued to provide the bulk of the goals, scoring 12 in 16 games. Club stalwart and 1982 All White Barry Pickering donned his playing gear again to go between the posts for the first two games of the season.

Wellington United won their first two matches (including an opening day victory over defending champions Lower Hutt), but then lost three and drew one of their next four. This was the sort of inconsistency that dogged the team throughout the season. However United were the only team to beat Miramar. Dominic Rowe was top-scorer for the third year in succession and newcomer Andy Groom (from Tauranga) was another solid performer. Unfortunately, the lack of a settled starting eleven through injuries and constant formation changes meant that little momentum was built. At the end though, United qualified for the new Central League with three wins in the playoffs which was more than Petone could manage.

Waterside Karori experienced another trying year, with a record little different to that in 2003 except that more goals were conceded. But they did enough against the teams below them to reach seventh spot. Rare high points were a 1-1 draw with Western Suburbs and a 5-1 trouncing of Wellington United in the last game. The core of the side was formed by Darren Johnson (player of the year), Steve Betteridge, Marc Drayton and goal keeper Regan Young. Lack of goals was a problem, evidenced by top scorer Mike Green netting just six times.

Driven by sheer determination, Brooklyn Northern United improved one place from 2003 to finish eighth – a somewhat remarkable outcome when just eleven goals were recorded. They did however provide stiff resistance for every opponent and no team looked forward to the journey to Wakefield Park's number two ground and the chants of Brooklyn's fanatical supporters. Goalkeeper Jeff Graham earned a call-up to the Team Wellington squad, and he along with Chris Sperring, Nick Thompson and Ben Greer were the best performers in an unfashionable, but utterly committed side.

For a club with a successful recent history, Island Bay United experienced an extremely disappointing season. It's hard to put a finger on exactly what went wrong because they showed, in drawing 3-3 with Wests and in holding Miramar to just a single goal, an ability to compete with the best. A good indicator of a team's weakness is the goals against figure. While Bay did not have the worst record, far too many of the conceded goals were gifts. Stalwart Salvi Vinaccia battled bravely all year. Pacey Carl Ede and top scorer Bill Porteous, who received the club award for player of the year, also stood out.

Tawa drew with Petone on opening day, inspiring hopes of a creditable season. Unfortunately, this did not transpire. An inability to recruit new players proved to be a major problem; a leaky defence was another. Although not as out of depth as Upper Hutt City had been the previous year, Tawa in the final reckoning did no better in terms of placing or points earned. Because there was no relegation, the club was able to persevere with a development policy and his may bring results in the years ahead. Captain Hayden Musgrove, centreback Craig Alderdice and the two Daniels – Wood and Cody – were the best of the bunch in 2004.

Capital Premier Reserves

After finishing second in 2003, Wellington United went one better to win the League in 2004. Success was based on an ability to win tight matches, a watertight defence and an excellent blend of youth and experience blend of youth and experience. Young striker Jamie Ettridge scored 15 times in 14 games, board with nine other players scoring at least twice. In defence, veteran Mark Wala cleverly marshalled a back four in front of athletic goalkeeper Luke Gaylard, while Paul Bleyenga belied his age with consistently solid attacking performances out wide.

Miramar Rangers, the most potent attacking side in the league, sat in the top three for most of the season but lost twice to Wellington United and that decided the championship. Michele Zanotto (later to be the hero for Rangers' first team in the Chatham Cup final) finished as the league's top scorer with 16 goals, Dean Simeonoff chipped in with 11. The side was based around a solid core of experienced players including Dominic Mazur and Matt Keene with Daniel Fitzharris and Adrian Mazur also featuring strongly.

Western Suburbs overcame the setback of losing three of the first four games to eventually finish third, ahead of Olympic on goal difference. Well coached by Matt Calcott, a largely youthful group of players competed well and could take satisfaction from being one of only two sides to beat Wellington United. Mark Limmer (scorer of five goals in the 8-0 win over Brooklyn) and Jamie Nicholas were ever-presents in the side, while Marco Comparini was the top scorer with 12 goals.

Wellington Olympic led for much of the season until a horror run of five games without victory. Goals weren't a problem, with three per game on average, but bizarre defeats (1-6 to Miramar and Lower Hutt, 1-4 to Island Bay) are indications that defensive obligations did not have high priority. Jackie Soh and Sam Jewell were solid performers and Anthony Neonakis topped the goalscorers list, scoring 10 in 13 games.

2003 champions Lower Hutt City had a modest season slipping to fifth place. Having to play the last four games within eight days did not help the cause. 16 year old Michael Madden, the team's leading scorer (10 goals in 12 games) earned a place in the inaugural Team Wellington squad in the NZFC.

Tawa won three of five matches at the start of the season including victories over Western Suburbs and Lower Hutt and continued in similar fashion through to June when everything went wrong – a reflection no doubt of problems being experienced by the first team. However, a sixth place finish was a creditable outcome for the league newcomers. Club stalwarts Richard Martin, Iain West and Graham Essel were mainstays in the side.

Island Bay United finished in seventh place, a position it occupied for much of the season. The high point was a 4-1 victory over Wellington Olympic who were top of the league at the time. Sam Heather was strong in goal and John Borley provided nearly half his side's goals, notching an impressive 15 in 17 matches, including all five in the 5-0 win over Brooklyn.

Fielding an essentially Under-19 selection, Petone started promisingly taking seven points from four games. The next eight games produced only one more point and during this lean period only two goals were scored. Petone had the dubious distinction of being the only team not to beat bottom-placed Waterside Karori.

For Brooklyn Northern United, the records tell the bleak tale – just one win, only fifteen goals and a massive 84 conceded in 18 games. Cameron Mitchell and veteran Sandy Aitchison battled bravely and Mehmet Demir showed some nice touches, but it will be a season Brooklyn will happily consign to the memory banks.

Waterside Karori also had a woeful time, never winning a game and often struggling to field a full side. Indeed more than 50 players had to be called into action during the season. It was hard going for the half dozen regulars but Robert Grant, playing as centre back showed enough potential to be a challenger for a first team place in future.

Capital One

Securing promotion to the reorganized Capital Premier League was the focus for all Capital Division 1 teams in 2004. A top four placing was essential but teams finishing fifth and sixth also had a chance of promotion depending on the outcome of the series of games to decide the spread of representation in the higher regional league which would embrace the elite of the Central and Capital Federation clubs.

Having finished the 2003 season strongly, Marist continued in the same manner throughout 2004. A loss to Kapiti Coast in round four was a setback but 11 of the next 12 games were won, giving Marist the championship with a game to play. New coach Brian Blellock, who took over only a week before the season commenced, welcomed the return of influential midfielder Jason Musgrove. The signing of former Seatoun midfielder Neil McDonald (player of the year) was also significant. Prolific goal scorer Greg Parish departed for Tawa pre-season but a fine replacement was secured in Dutchman Leo van Delden. Central midfielder Sourasith Chanpaseuth earned praise from his coach for good technique and work-rate. Italian striker Stefano Maressa, who returned to Italy at season-end and club stalwart wide midfielder Kini Mitipelo also did well.

For those with memories of National League days past, the resurgence of Stop Out was very welcome. The stigma of three consecutive last place finishes was cast aside with the team amassing an impressive 60 goal tally. But resurgence was slow in coming, the first three games producing just one point. The attacking exploits of Matt Bennett, his fellow striker Andy Le Prou – the club's young player of the year – and Steven Broadfoot were factors in the turn around in fortune. Others were the arrival of Alex McDonald from Christchurch, combined with three players from Coach Mike Holmwood's former club Naenae. In goal Stop Out fielded youth under-17 international Chris Campbell. The club again benefited from a relationship with Thackley AFC, a Bradford club in the Northern Counties East League, gaining centre-back James Riley – player of the year - and midfielder Jamie Carroll.

Upper Hutt City enjoyed a good Chatham Cup run, reaching the final 16 by lowering the colours of premier sides Brooklyn Northern and Tawa before being halted 5-0 by Lower Hutt. Striker Craig Meiklejohn achieved dual milestones for the club in making his 200th league appearance and netting his 100th goal. Goalkeeper Ryan Sandford marshalled a defence that conceded the fewest goals in the League, only once conceding more than a single goal. Coach Gary Jenkins who had taken Kapiti Coast in 2003, described the season as successful, praising schoolboys Mike Garnett (right-back) and Laurence Guetta (attacking midfielder) for their special contributions.

It was an historic year for Victoria University with fourth place earning premier status for the club. Not since 1958 has the club competed at an equivalent level. Ma Mahuika took on the coaching role in 2004 replacing Eddie Taylor. A welcome return to first-team action saw Lloyd Davies, injured the previous season, lead the team from midfield and gain the player of year award. Up front, UK recruit James Hardaker made a successful club debut as top goal scorer. Young players to impress were wide midfielders Shane Medland and Braden Wihohika. Most improved player award went to centre-back Dave Meerman. The club is eyeing Anderson Park as a training venue for next season and has appointed ex-Miramar Rangers and Western Suburbs player Shaun Gill as coach. During the season Mahuika made his 250th league appearance for the club.

North Wellington began solidly before a mid-season slump when the only return in six games was two draws. A further blow was the transfer of promising striker Chas Lawrence to premier side Wellington Olympic. Form turned for the better after an away win against Wairarapa beginning a run of five wins and two draws in the last eight games. A final home game draw against fellow promotion chasers Wainuiomata secured fifth place enough to return the club to premier league after an absence of four years. Coach Brian Bullen credited a solid defence and on-field discipline for the improved showing.

Striker Dean Polyanszky became the second player to achieve 200 league appearances. Young striker Liam Kerrisk continued to show his goal scoring worth, albeit in the limited appearances be made. Versatile midfielder Joe Harris continued his maturation and displayed a high consistent work-rate. Centre back Daniel Diggins was named player of the year, having anchored the club's defence throughout.

Poor away from hampered the progress of Wainuiomata who finished sixth, narrowly missing out on promotion. Coach Willie Ward, in his third year, was impressed by the team spirit displayed despite the lack of playing depth evident in club ranks, with the call going to the club's experienced members to provide the backbone for the season. Although in promotion contention right throughout the season, Wainuiomata lapsed in defence at critical times. Failure to score in the final four games – something Ward could not attribute to any specific reason – was another downfall. In goal, Marcel Brunner returning from the social grades, performed with distinction to earn player of the year. Young midfielder Josh Wilkie impressed as did defender Michael Barnes with another solid performance. Goal scoring efforts were concentrated with two-thirds of the season's haul coming from stikers Jeff McKenzie, Maunganui Kohika and player-coach Ward.

Kapiti Cost United ought to have finished higher than seventh place. It was disappointing performance given past ambitions to play at national level. Tony Meinen, an acquisition from Western Suburbs and top scorer with 16 goals, was player of the year. Central midfielder Zac Needham, who returned from overseas mid-season, was young player of the year. The late appointment of coach Peter Ockey – two weeks prior to the season start – coupled with some key players being unavailable in the early season and fitness levels below require standard, contributed to the disappointing effort.

Kapiti Coast also struggled in some key central positions, although Ockey was impressed with central midfielder Shane Browne who provided a consistently positive attitude. The experience and physical presence provided by Stu Neal at centre-back was sorely missed before his return in the second half of the season. A highlight was performance against eventual champions Marist with an away win and a home draw. With mergers now complete, the club has launched an initiative to change its ground and clubrooms from Weka Park in Raumati to Mazengarb Park in Pararparaumu.

Seatoun suffered as a result of a dramatic loss of experience. Coach Brendan McIntyre was forced to reply on young but promising players who were sorely tested throughout the league programme. Two wins in the opening three games gave some early hope, however two large defeats, followed closely by three narrow defeats, quickly made the season a difficult one. Paul Brown, player of the season, and fellow midfielder Trent Rickard were consistent performers and Seatoun will be looking to this pair to provide a solid nucleus from which the club can build on with its younger players like 15 year old keeper Alfa Kennedy. Continued youth 2004 brought a return to Federation League football for Wairarapa United who were a late withdrawal the previous season due to diminished playing strength. Based at Howard Booth Park in Carterton, the club relied almost solely on local talent this time round. The one name player – goalkeeper Sacha Nathu – a member of the 1999 NZ Under-17 team – departed after the seventh game for higher grade football with Lower Hutt. Without him, defensive problems became more pronounced and there were several heavy defeats. The attack managed little better than a goal a game – Hayden Spierling (5) and midfielders Troy Burling and Robin James (4 each) they only significant contributors. A positive was the blooding of as many as six 15 year olds with Aaron Spierling in particular, showing ability to go further. A proposal to run a reserve team in the local competition could also help the club. A meeting of interested parties during the season endorsed the continuation of the Wairarapa United concept but contributory clubs must demonstrate whole-hearted support.

The fortunes of Naenae continue to fluctuate. Having finished well in 2003, 2nd spot the club fell to last spot in 2004. This didn't help with last season's coach and three players moved to Stop Out in the off-season. Goal scoring was a major problem with Simon Hall and Richard Lillyston joint top goal scorers (with four goals each).

2004 MATCH REPORT - FINAL

A "golden goal" forty-three seconds into the second half of extra-time from Miramar Rangers' "Supersub", Michele Zannoto, clinched a third Bluebird Chatham Cup triumph for the Wellington club on September 6, as they downed a gallant Waitakere City 1-0 at North Harbour Stadium before a 3000-strong crowd - an excellent attendance for a televised Monday night fixture.

Zannoto's strike settled a close encounter which saw plenty of chances created, but a combination of poor finishing, fine goalkeeping and stout defending ensured that, for 105 minutes of this match, those watching both at the ground and on television nationwide were denied the goals they craved.

The first chance of a game which was refereed in masterly fashion by Peter O'Leary the powers-that-be got this appointment spot-on - took five minutes to materialise, and followed a Kris Bright break on the right for City. Craig Wylie's corner found Hone Fowler powering in through the middle of the Miramar goalmouth, and his downward header bounced up and flashed past the angle of post and crossbar.

Fowler and the wily Andy Hedge, Rangers' defensive lynchpin, were steadfast in their duties throughout this encounter, often seen stepping in to break up an opposing attack with calm efficiency. Behind them, City's Michael Utting and Rangers' Dylan Hall were the epitome of high competence, dealing capably with just about everything which came their way.

The latter was first called into action in the twelfth minute, racing out to save at the feet of Bright after a Matthew West blunder - not his last by any means - had been pounced on by the young Gillingham-bound striker, who heads to the English Football League club later this week for trials.

Matt Keene, with a delightful twenty-five yard chip of Utting which just cleared the crossbar, and Wylie, with a well-struck thirty-five yard piledriver which fizzed wide of the mark, were next to chance their arm in a match which was slow to gain any kind of momentum - in short, a typical Cup Final, with cageyness the key word for both sides.

A brief flurry of action brought the match to life just before the half-hour mark, with City calling the tune at this stage. Hall punched the ball off the head of Bright as he homed in on a Wylie cross in the 25th minute, while City's leading marksman was thwarted by a vital block from West seconds later, as he charged towards Rangers' goal.

Hall grabbed Fowler's downward header in the 27th minute, following a Michael Williams free-kick, while Bright put James Slack in on the right two minutes later, only for the speedster to be closed down by Chris Peck, at the expense of a corner. Wylie's delivery found Bright at the near post, but his header went the wrong side of the angle, much to Miramar's relief.

Tim Butterfield offered them a brief respite in the 32nd minute, but shot tamely at Utting, who launched a City raid which culminated in Bright flicking the ball on into Slack's path. This time, the closing presence of Hedge forced the speedster to fire wide of the mark.

Utting produced the best save of the match thus far in the 36th minute, diving low to his left to turn a fine shot on the turn by Graham Little to safety. And it was City's turn to breathe a sigh of relief on the stroke of half-time, as Rangers came desperately close to opening the scoring.

Peck's deep cross from the left arced beyond Bryan Little to the incoming Keene, who let fly with a cracking drive. The ball cannoned off Ben Steward towards Butterfield, whose close-range effort was blocked to seeming safety.

The rebound fell to Graham Little, who hit a piledriver towards the target. But again, the massed ranks of Waitakere defenders held firm, only for a poor clearance to present the hard-working Tariq Imam with a chance from twenty yards out. Utting didn't see it till late, and looked on as the ball fizzed past his right-hand post.

The resulting goal kick was played short, with Geoff Gray sending the ball forward to release Slack down the left at pace - where Jamie Farrington had disappeared to, only he will know, but there was a gaping hole where Rangers' right full-back should have been, and Slack wasted little time exploiting it.

Hedge came across as Bright charged through the middle in anticipation of a cross, but Slack went for glory, and sent the ball blazing well wide of the target to bring the first half to a close on something of an anti-climactic note.

Miramar began the second half brightly, with Jason Rowley thwarting Bryan Little within seconds of the resumption, and a Peck cross arcing narrowly over the head of Roddy Brown five minutes later, in much the same manner Steward's cross had cleared the head of Bright two minutes earlier.

There was very little between the sides, in truth - little wonder they were both claiming the underdog tag in the build-up to the final, 'cause neither side produced a performance befitting cup favourites, particularly with regard to taking their chances in front of goal.

A chance for Bright presented itself on the hour mark, as linesman Martin Pepper found himself in the wrong place at the wrong time when the striker and Hedge contested possession on the touchline.

Both players swerved round the official, one on either side, with the striker taking the goal-side route. It proved suffice to win the foot-race, but the finish he produced to reflect his best chance of the match was not great, pulling his shot wide of Hall but across the face of goal.

Utting surpassed his 36th minute save in the 63rd minute with a quite stunning stop low to his left. Brown wriggled out of an all-embracing challenge from Wylie and clipped in a cross to the completely unmarked Bryan Little. Everything about his downward header was text-book perfect, but Utting produced something from the top drawer to maintain parity on the scorehoard.

Both Bryan Little and Fowler, with a glancing header from a Wylie free-kick, went close in the next seven minutes, their attempts sandwiching another close shave for Miramar in the 68th minute.

A vicious inswinging corner from Williams was somehow pawed out from under the crossbar by Hall, only for Malcolm Wakefield, City's captain, to let fly from close-range. But Rangers' rearguard blocked his effort on the line - the scoreless stalemate continued.

City continued to press, Bright narrowly failing to get on the end of a delightfully flighted cross from Steward in the 73rd minute, while Hedge managed to contain both Bright and Slack with a classy piece of defensive play four minutes later, sparking a raid from man-of-the-match Butterfield.

He surged fully fifty yards with the ball until getting to the edge of City's penalty area, from where he let fly. Utting saved low to his right this time, then looked on seconds later as at the conclusion of a strong run by Imam, Brown sent a screamer sailing wide of the mark, a feat he was to replicate in stoppage time.

With extra-time looming large, City pressed hard for a late winner, but it wasn't to be, although it certainly wasn't for the want of trying. A Farrington error was pounced on by Mauro Donoso, who picked out Slack with his pass. But Hedge was on hand to foil this opportunity.

Hall was next to intervene and frustrate City, punching a Wylie free-kick off the head of Bright. The striker then played a lovely ball wide into the path of substitute Nathan Fry, who, with his first touch, brought a fine save with his legs out of the advancing Hall, two minutes from time.

Fry was in again in stoppage time, after Wylie, Slack and Donoso had teamed up, the latter's angled cross being headed out by Hedge to the substitute. He was forced wide by the defender, but still got a shot in, one which Hall parried to safety.

The first half of extra time saw Miramar up the tempo, as they sought to add the Chatham Cup to the National Club Championship and Capital Premier League honours they've claimed in the last couple of years.

Substitute Zannoto had entered the fray by this time, and wasn't too far away from getting on the end of a teasing Graham Little cross in the 98th minute. Seconds later, an Imam corner had Utting flapping in vain, the ball falling perfectly for Butterfield.

He hit a thunderbolt through the crowded goalmouth, and how no-one made contact with the ball, given the fearsome pace at which it was travelling, and the cluster of legs in the vicinity, defies logic.

A timely clearance from Donoso denied Kevin Thompson, as the Little brothers looked to link with the early second half substitute, but the real drama was to come at the other end of the park, in the 103rd minute.

Fry battled down the right, his fresh legs of great value to Waitakere at this stage of the match, although it was something of a surprise, given the number of games City have played of late, that he was the only substitute they used.

On this occasion, his cross was touched on by Slack to Bright, who hit a gem of a shot on the turn. Hall somehow blocked it, and recovered quickly to prevent the striker from turning home the rebound - coming as it did late in the first half of "Golden Goal" extratime, it was arguably the most important and most significant save of the entire match.

On the stroke of half-time in the additional period, Miramar produced a lovely move, featuring Imam and Butterfield. But Zannoto spoilt it all with an awful finish, firing well wide of the mark with just Utting to beat, prompting groans all round from the Miramar faithful who had made the trip north from the capital for their club's first Chatham Cup Final since their 1992 victory over Waikato United at the Basin Reserve.

But the substitute was to go from villain to "Miramar Legend" status just forty-three seconds after the teams had changed ends to commence the second period of extra-

Breaking down the left, Graham Little fired in a low cross behind Zannoto, who turned and lashed the ball inside Utting's near post from eight yards to win the cup for Rangers, as the goalkeeper's momentum took him away from the ball at the wrong moment

Instantly, Miramar's bench raced onto the pitch, ecstatic in triumph, their 1-0 victory sealed by their very own "Supersub" to provide a fitting send-off for coach Dave Farrington, taking charge of his last match in senior level soccer, and bowing out a winner.

At the same moment, Waitakere's players slumped to the ground, despair etched all over their faces, as their dreams of claiming a fourth Chatham Cup for the West Auckland club evaporated in the cool night air, to be replaced by the most bitter pill of all to swallow.

It was a hard way for either combatant to win or lose, given their efforts over the preceding 106 minutes, but far better that the game be decided in this manner, compared to the penalty shoot-out which was looming large on the horizon. Thankfully, it wasn't needed, due to a goal from loyal club-man Zannoto, Miramar Rangers' cup final hero.

2004 MATCH REPORT - FINAL

Capital Soccer produced the upset of the National Women's Soccer League season in the inaugural Grand Final at Trusts Stadium on November 28, as they stunned Auckland-Manukau 2-1 to prevent the reigning champions from scoring a "three-peat" in the competition.

The Wellingtonians, who got into the play-offs via a protest ruling, then edged out Central Soccer on penalties a week ago, struck the opening goal with the first attack of note in the match, Patrice Bourke - the Grand Final's best-performed midfielder - heading home an Angela Goodridge corner at the near nost

They could have doubled their advantage four minutes later when Ashleigh Cox saved with her legs from Goodridge, after Bourke and Ashlee Delahunty had combined to engineer the opening.

Gradually the Aucklanders began to get into their stride, with Sarah Gibbs, from a corner, and Michele Keinzley, from the rebound, hitting both posts in the fourteenth minute.

Capital scrambled the ball clear on this occasion, but were breathing a sigh of relief two minutes later, after Zoe Thompson's back-heel sent Gibbs racing down the left, and her cross flew just too far in front of the incoming Kirsty Yallop, as she looked to make contact with a diving header.

In the 23rd minute, the home team drew level with a well-worked goal. Dana Humby, Thompson, Keinzley and Leah Tagaloa's interchange of passes was thwarted by the outstanding Julia Baldwin, who was later named the MVP of the Grand Final

But Keinzley, the National Women's League Player of the Year, retrieved the situation and worked an opening which allowed Yallop to get to the byline, from where she whipped a cross to the far post. Gibbs was arriving bang on cue, and her header beat Pam Yates all ends up - 1-1.

The next three minutes saw the premiership winners carve the Capital rearguard apart on as many occasions, only for profligate finishing - the bane of their campaign - to again mar good approach play.

Thompson was central to each attack, firstly wriggling into the penalty area before presenting a gift-wrapped chance for Tagaloa. Somehow, the youngster scooped the ball over the bar from inside the goal area.

Thompson herself shot straight at Yates seconds later, while the New Zealand international fired over a hanging cross in the 26th minute which Gibbs headed inches past the post, getting in between Yates and Nikki Wenzlick to do so.

Five minutes later, Humby and Thompson combined to send Keinzley spearing through the defence on a well-angled diagonal run behind the Capital defence. But she fired her shot past the post.

After Yates had pawed away a Gibbs corner - the New Zealand international produced a generally sound display between the sticks - the scorer of Auckland's first goal had the ball in the net again in the 36th minute.

This time, Rebecca Sowden and Tagaloa had engineered the opportunity, the latter playing the ball across for Gibbs to chase. Bria Sargent was in hot pursuit, and a tangle of legs ensued, with both players stumbling. Gibbs recovered quickly, and stabbed the ball home, but referee Nick Waldron ruled that Wellington's captain had been impeded by the "scorer", so called play back for the infringement.

It was to prove a crucial call, for after Gibbs had fired another shot at Yates - Sowden was influential in this move, Capital were gifted a second goal two minutes before half-time.

Cox fielded a pass-back from Melissa Ray, but her attempt to play the ball out to Maia Jackman went nowhere near the Auckland captain. Instead, Goodridge was the gleeful recipient of a woeful piece of distribution, and despite the closing figures of Jackman and Humby, she raced on before picking her spot past the dumbstruck figure of the goalkeeper to restore Capital's lead.

^{} Won on penalties 8-7

It set up the match for the second half, with the goodly crowd anticipating a much more lively performance from an Auckland side in which, truth be told, too many players had produced ineffective first half displays.

That pattern continued in the second spell, to a large extent. The front two, Thompson and Tagaloa, were generally ineffective and shy on confidence - too often they checked back when confronted by Sargent or Baldwin, instead of taking them on.

Meanwhile, in central midfield, an area of the game which Auckland has invariably dominated over the years, opposition regardless, for the second time in three games the home team found themselves second-best in this key aspect of the contest.

Yallop and Sowden were outshone by Toni West and, in particular, Bourke, who used her experience to telling effect. One can't begin to imagine just what former Auckland midfield general, 112-times-capped Michele Cox, was thinking of her successors' efforts while watching the proceedings unfold before her.

Instead, too many of the locals were found wanting when push came to shove, and this despite continuing to dominate the game with their attacking approach. After Jackman had stepped in to thwart Goodridge in the 54th minute, the second half was largely one-way traffic, but try as they might the Aucklanders simply couldn't capitalise on their chances.

Sargent produced a vital tackle to thwart Thompson in the 55th minute, before Yates produced a top save to thwart Humby from twenty-five yards a minute later. The 'keeper was flapping at a Gibbs cross two minutes after, however, only for Tagaloa to guide her header wide of the far post.

Another Auckland raid in the 59th minute saw Sowden clip a ball into the goalmouth which found Baldwin outnumbered by Keinzley and Tagaloa. The latter got a close-range shot in, but Yates was equal to it, albeit at the second attempt.

The goalkeeper was at fault in the 65th minute, her poor goal-kick gifting possession to the lively Keinzley. Her one-two with Thompson allowed the former Wairarapa United star to get to the byline before pulling the ball back for the incoming Gibbs. Her shot was goalbound, until Baldwin blocked the ball to safety.

By this time, Auckland had unveiled a rather obscure substitution. 2-1 down, and chasing the game, they introduced Terry McCahill to the fray for her 97th appearance in blue-and-white - a move which earned the biggest cheer of the day, it must be said.

In such circumstances, logic would surely dictate that an under-performing striker be replaced by the vastly experienced defender, with Jackman moving forward into the attack as a result, a change which would prompt a re-think of Capital's approach.

Wrong - try a straight swap for Ray, who, with Jackman - dominant in the air again, Keinzley and Gibbs, were four members of Auckland's starting line-up whose displays were far from ineffective. Capital coach Wendi Henderson must have thought all her Christmases had come at once when her opposite number, Paul Temple, opted as he did with his first chance to change the course of the match.

After Tagaloa had fired over under pressure from Wenzlick, Auckland were denied a second equaliser in the 71st minute. Sowden, who was coming more into the game as Bourke and West tired, released Keinzley down the right, and the international fired in a splendid cross. Yates was found wanting under pressure, but as Yallop smashed the ball into the net, referee Waldron's whistle sounded, signalling a foul on the 'keeper.

Substitute Rebecca Tegg was keen to get in the thick of things in the last fifteen minutes, and was one of three players - Jackman and Yallop the others - who were denied in a goalmouth scramble which resulted from a Gibbs free-kick twelve minutes from time.

After Tegg and Keinzley had combined to fire in a cross which Yates anticipated well, thus denying Tagaloa another chance, McCahill and Keinzley linked to inspire a twenty-five yard effort from Yallop, which slid wide of the mark.

Time was now Auckland's enemy, and so was the Wellington crossbar. Twice in five minutes it was rattled, firstly by Keinzley six minutes from time, following a Gibbs pass, then by Tegg, who hit the woodwork from an oblique angle after being released by McCahill.

In between times, a free-kick from Jackman - who was finally called on to join the attack when just three minutes remained - had found Keinzley, who fired over another measured cross. Gibbs headed this over the crossbar, and, like many of her team-mates, could only look on in frustration in stoppage time as Keinzley presented Tegg with a great chance which the substitute fired tamely at Vates

It was Auckland's last hope, for Capital could have added what would have been a flattering third goal deep in stoppage time, after Sarah Gregorius' cross from the right had been flicked on by West to the unmarked Goodridge.

Cox blocked this effort well, but it was her first half gift from which the striker and Capital benefited, as the sound of the final whistle saw new National Women's League champions crowned for the first time in the competition's brief history.

The undisguised delight of the victorious Wellingtonians was there for all to see, as was the despair of the beaten Aucklanders, who also lost their grip on both the Challenge Cup and the Roy Cox Shield - regained by downing Capital 4-0 just a fortnight ago - with this result.

Henderson was understandably delighted by the victory, achieved as it was by a group of largely young players, very few of whom have enjoyed recognition beyond regional representative level - a stark contrast to their beaten opponents, all of whom have appeared for New Zealand in either full or schoolgirl internationals.

On the day of the Grand Final, however, the old adage of cup football - anything can happen, and usually does - again proved correct. While the home side had the lion's share of the chances, their failure to convert them ultimately meant that an extra seat had to be found on the 6pm Air New Zealand flight to Wellington to accommodate the additional hand-luggage of the visiting side, due reward for the all-round solidity of Capital's display.

2004 MATCH REPORT - FINAL

Lynn-Avon United became only the second club in the history of the Uncle Toby's Women's Knockout Cup Final to win the trophy in three successive seasons on September 5, as they downed Three Kings United - the other "three-peaters" - 1-0 before a four hundred-plus crowd at Fred Taylor Park.

It was a tense, tight and extremely physical final, with the players of both teams getting on with things by fair means or foul, in spite of the presence of rookie referee Shannon Smith, who, quite frankly, failed to satisfy the standards expected by the players on the showpiece occasion for women's club soccer in New Zealand. That it was a decidedly questionable penalty which decided the contest only serves to underline this fact.

Such an event deserves the best official available, gender regardless, and while it may be desirable to have female officials in charge of the women's final, the powers-thatbeneed to put matters of political correctness to one side on occasions such as this, and make the best needs of the players their prime consideration.

With regards to the choice of referee, they failed to satisfy that expectation for the 2004 event, and left a young official with potential in a nigh-on impossible situation, surrounded by players who ended up taking out their frustrations with her inexperienced and inconsistent officiating on each other.

The match itself saw Three Kings enjoy the greater share of the chances, the first of which came just twenty seconds into play. Maia Jackman's twenty yard drive was fumbled by Ashleigh Cox, but Alisse Robertson, playing her last match before retirement, cleared the danger before Zoe Thompson could pounce on the loose ball.

After Rebecca Parkinson had seen Wendy Horneman grab her twenty-five yard freekick, Rebecca Sowden fired a tame shot at Cox in the fourth minute, after Thompson and Jackman had teamed up.

Lynn-Avon were enjoying the early territorial advantage, but their opponents were giving them little change, particularly Petria Rennie, who produced an enormous performance at the heart of the Three Kings defence, something to which Michele Keinzley could testify in the ninth minute, as the youngster denied the striker with a timely tackle on the edge of the penalty area.

Cox's final concluded in agony in the twelfth minute, as she raced out of goal towards the left-hand edge of her penalty area. Jackman had threaded a ball through for Thompson to chase, and the striker, the ball, the goalkeeper and the covering figure of Melissa Ray arrived simultaneously.

The custodian was left with a leg injury from the collision which saw her carried from the field on a stretcher to await the arrival of an ambulance. Replacing her between the sticks was a Lynn-Avon legend, former New Zealand goalkeeper Yvonne Vale, who has been playing as a striker in social grade soccer this season, having hung up her gloves following last season's National Women's Soccer League - or so she thought!

The call to take up the reserve goalkeeper's position was made on Tuesday, fortuitously as things turned out. And Vale's first touch of the ball suggested that she has lost none of her reflexes, as she produced a blinding save high to her left to thwart Sowden in the seventeenth minute, the midfielder having been picked out by Kim Rowney.

Hannah Rishworth and Sowden combined to put Thompson in on goal in the 21st minute, and she fired a shot across Vale towards the target. The retreating figure of Terry McCahill covered the threat, however, at the expense of a corner. Sarah Gibbs' delivery picked out Jackman, whose goalbound shot was blocked to safety by Jennifer Carlisle.

Three Kings had another shot blocked on the line on the half-hour, fourteen-year-old Ria Percival - the youngest player on the pitch - denying Rowney's close-range effort after Sowden had picked out Jackman from a corner.

Lynn-Avon were struggling to create any genuine scoring opportunities of their own, as epitomised in the 37th minute, when Rennie cleared the ball to Kirsty Yallop. She charged to the byline and whipped in a cross intended for Parkinson, but Horneman had anticipated the danger well, and gathered cleanly.

Three minutes later, however, Three Kings' 'keeper kept her side on level terms, as Keinzley broke through onto Vicki Rainbow's header forward.

Under pressure from the closing figure of Dana Humby, the striker got to the edge of the penalty area before letting fly, only for Horneman to save with her outstretched leg and snaffle the last genuine chance of a half which, primarily - but not only - due to Cox's injury, saw nine minutes of additional time played.

The second spell saw Three Kings charge forward straight from the kick-off and go close once more. Sowden, Rishworth and Jackman teamed up to create an opening for Thompson. Clever defending by McCahill forced the striker wide, but she still got a shot on target, forcing Vale to save at the foot of the post.

Two minutes later, the action switched to the other end of the park, with Dana Heiford directing an under-strength clearance from Horneman back towards the penalty area. Parkinson's pursuit was halted by the goalkeeper's hefty clearance on this occasion.

Another timely tackle from McCahill thwarted Sarah Ropati five minutes later, as the physical nature of the contest began to see things get a little too heated, players from both sides being guilty of some clattering challenges as a few old scores were readdressed.

A little surprisingly, only two players were booked - Keinzley for a robust challenge, and Thompson, who was guilty of retaliation against her nemesis, Ray, whose towering individual performance at the heart of Lynn-Avon's defence fully merited the MVP award later bestowed on her.

Twenty minutes from time, Heiford played the ball wide to Rainbow, whose cross was cleared back to her by Renee Dale. Rainbow then tried a subtle curling effort, targeting the near post of Horneman. The goalkeeper, anticipating another cross, adjusted her position quickly to produce a fine save.

Further Lynn-Avon pressure followed, with Ray's inspiring left-wing raid culminating in a shot from Heiford which fizzed past the post. Within seconds, however, referee Smith's intervention presented the cup holders with the chance to open the scoring.

Cutting in from the left, Keinzley got around Rennie inside the penalty area, but before she could cross, the defender produced a timely tackle to cleanly steer the ball out for a corner. From the official's angle, however, it appeared that Rennie had brought Keinzley down in the challenge, and she pointed to the spot.

Up stepped Parkinson, who lashed the ball high into the top right-hand corner of Horneman's net - 1-0 Lynn-Ayon.

Three Kings came charging back, with Vale plucking a Ropati cross off the head of Thompson within seconds of the goal, the striker then seeing a shot deflected to safety after finally managing to escape the clutches of Ray - their ongoing battle was the outstanding duel within the match, and it was a genuine case of no holds barred, often quite literally.

Twice in the last ten minutes, Jackman sent headers flashing past the post following crosses by Humby and Gibbs, while Horneman dealt capably with crosses from Parkinson and Heiford two minutes from time. Then a fine covering tackle by Humby thwarted the hard-working Keinzley, after Margot Bowker had sent her team-mate scampering forward.

But after Robertson had sent a twenty-five yard effort narrowly over the crossbar following Heiford's miscued corner, the final whistle sounded, and Three Kings could only ponder upon what might have been had they taken their chances, as they watched Lynn-Avon celebrate their long-awaited "three-peat".
