2015 Season Review

by Dave Webster

National League

2015 was a season for Capital Football to forget. It started with a new coach in Tom Randles, who lasted for only three games before being replaced by Wendi Henderson. The team was a very young one and struggled to compete managing only one win, 4-1 over the hapless Southern United. They also suffered a record defeat in an 11-2 thrashing by Northern. The sixth place finish was the worst ever for a Capital team. It wasn't all bad with a young Maggie Jenkins breaking into the National League scoring 4 goals in 7 appearances and showing she has a great future in the game.

Women's Central League

Seatoun won their second Central League title in a row losing only one game, 2-3 to Wellington United, drawing one, 1-1 with Upper Hutt City, conceding only 11 goals while scoring 54. Annie Olsen with 18 and Grace Surridge with 14 led the way in the goal scoring. They also won the Kelly Cup for the 11th time on their history.

Wellington United Diamonds finished in second place, 5 points behind, with some big wins including 14-0 over Valeron Wanderers. The Robertson sisters led the way in the scoring with Michaela getting 14 and Jemma 9

Wendi Henderson's Upper Hutt City finished one point behind Wellington United. They had a couple of big wins including 16-0 over Valeron Wanderers and 11-0 over Brooklyn Northern United, but losses to Massey, Seatoun and Wellington United saw them finish in third place. Emma Main scored an average of 2 goals a game and finished with a total of 22.

Massey University were challenging for the title all season, but 3 losses in the last 4 games saw them drop to 4th place. They managed to reach the final of the National Women's Knockout Cup, where they unfortunately went down 4-0 to Glenfield Rovers. Over the league and cup they scored 86 goals with Jane Barnett getting an outstanding 46 of those.

Taranaki's Motorua United finished mid table with 6 wins and 7 losses. Beating Valeron Wanderers 13-0 and losing 9-0 to Massey University. Kowhai Williams scored 11 goals in 4 games.

Stop Out, Valeron Wanderers and Brooklyn Northern United fought out a three-way battle for relegation. Stop Out managing a win over both their opponents to finish in 6th place. Despite having the worst goals for and against record with 7 for and 84 against and three large losses (13-0 v Moturoa, 16-0 v Upper Hutt City, 14-0 v Wellington United) in their last four games, Palmerston North side Valeron Wanderers survived thanks to a win and a draw against BNU. Brian Blellock's side didn't record a win all season and with just 2 points will find themselves playing in Capital Premier next season.

Women's Premier

Petone started the season with a 9-0 thumping of Stop Out Reserves and never looked back, winning all their games bar one (a 3-3 draw with Victoria University) and winning the league by 14 points. They met the Central region's Palmerston North Marist in a playoff for promotion to the Central League but missed out going down 6-1 on aggregate.

Despite using 36 players, Wellington United Sapphires, were the best of the rest finishing with 26 points, Sarah Alder top scored with 15 goals.

Upper Hutt City Reserves finished 3rd on goal difference ahead of Victoria University. Upper Hutt City's Becky Stewart scored 14 goals, Victoria University's Raima Harding getting 11. Western Suburbs finished three points behind on 20 points.

3 points separated the bottom 3, with Waterside Karori finishing 6th on 11 points, Kapiti Coast United 9 points and Stop Out Reserves last on 8 points.

Women's Knockout Cups

There were 11 entries in the National Women's Knockout Cup from the Capital and Central regions. Massey University beat Wellington United 2-0 in the quarter final and went on to beat Canterbury's Coastal Spirit 7-0 before meeting Glenfield Rovers in the final where they went down 4-0.

Seatoun won the Kelly Cup for the 11th time in their history with a 5-0 win over Stop Out. The Executive Plate for the lower division teams was won 3-2 by Tawa over close rivals North Wellington.

The Premier Cup was won by Western Suburbs with a 5-0 win over Stop Out Reserves.

2015 MATCH REPORT - FINAL

Just as Mainland Pride did to them in 2013, Northern Football scuppered the ASB National Women's League Grand Final hosts' hopes of recording a competition "three-peat" at ASB Park on December 6, prevailing 4-3 over the Cantabrians, who were flattered by the final scoreline.

Paul Greig's charges bossed this game from the first whistle, but despite Northern dominating both territory and possession it was Mainland who earned the first two corners of the game, with Ashleigh Ward's deliveries being well dealt with by Northern's rearguard.

The visitors deservedly opened the scoring in the thirteenth minute with their first genuine goalscoring threat. Rebecca Burrows - she had a massive game in midfield - and Emma Rolston were at the heart of the move, which culminated in Jess Innes being thwarted by Emma Proctor's challenge in the area.

The ball broke kindly for Estelle Harrison, who maintained her reputation as the go-to girl for the big occasion this season by adding an ASB National Women's League Grand Final goal to her double strike in the ASB National Women's Knockout Cup Final, which earned her the Maia Jackman Trophy as that showpiece fixture's Most Valuable Player.

The goal rocked the reigning champions, and Northern wasted little time in looking to press home their advantage. Tayla O'Brien linked with Rolston and Katie Rood - her pace was something with which Mainland couldn't live all game long - to play in Innes, but Geena Gross intervened in the sixteenth minute.

That sparked a Mainland counter-attack, with Ward and Annalie Longo linking with Megan Shea, who broke down the left before picking out Monique Barker with a cross which the striker headed wide of the near post.

Mainland rightly enjoyed plenty of home support, with Air New Zealand's airfares more than doubling between these teams' round-robin meeting three weeks ago and Grand Final day, rendering the trip south financially untenable for all but a hardy few.

The masses urged their charges on, especially in the eighteenth minute, when Kate Seatter's header back to Erin Nayler was eagerly pursued by Gabrielle Brodie. The Football Ferns' custodian just gathered the ball before the striker could swoop, a rare moment of concern for Northern's captain in a match which her team dominated.

They resumed their attacking drive in the 22nd minute, Rood roasting Rebecca Lake before looking to set up Rolston, arriving on the far post. Esson was alive to this threat, and that posed by Innes' twenty-five yarder seconds later, before she blocked a Rood effort at close quarters in the 28th minute after Rolston had just failed to meet Daisy Cleverley's cross from the right.

Amidst these threats by Northern, Mainland had penalty claims turned away by referee Anna-Marie Keighley, who turned a blind eye when Shea went down a little too easily when under pressure from Catherine Bott in the area.

On the half-hour, Northern pressed again, Tessa Berger combining with Seatter to pick out Rood, who held the ball up well before playing Rolston through the offside trap. She beat Esson all ends up with her shot, but looked on despairingly as the ball rolled past the far post.

The goalkeeper picked out Longo near half-way with the resulting goal-kick, and Mainland's talisman promptly produced a delightfully weighted angled cross-field ball to release Brodie at pace on the right. She was ultimately beaten by both the bounce and Nayler.

Not long afterwards, Lee Maoate-Cox earned herself a yellow card for a foul, and was spoken to again by referee Keighley before half-time - she was treading a rather fine line by this stage of proceedings, and Mainland's coaching staff did the wise thing by withdrawing her from the fray at half-time.

By which time Northern should have been out of sight on the scoreboard. Burrows' steeping thirty-five yarder deceived Esson as it dropped down and crashed against the crossbar. Rood, following in, was unable to convert the rebound, but had she done so it wouldn't have counted, the offside flag having been raised against her.

Nayler had a life in the 36th minute. Longo's probing through ball invited Barker to stretch her legs once more, but Seatter was always favourite to win the race. She guided the ball back to her goalkeeper, whose clearance landed at the feet of her fellow Football Fern. Longo was unable to extract the ultimate punishment, Nayler quickly recovering her position to avert the danger.

Two minutes later, Northern were hot on attack again, this time forcing a corner. Harrison whipped the ball into the danger zone, causing pandemonium aplenty in Mainland's goalmouth. An unidentified player fired the ball past Esson, only for Whitney Hepburn to head the ball off the line.

Mainland survived this scare, but another wasn't far away. Cleverley played the ball forward for Rood, whose pressure proved too much for Maoate-Cox to cope with. The striker thundered downfield, sweeping past Rebecca Lake with all the subtlety of a tsunami.

This left Rood one-on-one with Esson, and a goal looked odds-on. But the 'keeper stood her ground superbly to make a terrific blocking save with her legs - had Rood scored, Mainland would have been facing the proverbial mountain-climbing expedition. Esson was a heartbroken figure come the final whistle, but this was the save of the game, no question.

Mainland's goalkeeping captain looked on moments later as Rolston landed a thirty yard free-kick on the roof of her net, before Maoate-Cox's final intervention in the match saw her cut out an Innes cross intended for Rood, after O'Brien had released the winger down the left.

Esson rode her luck again four minutes into the second spell. Advancing to the edge of her penalty area as Northern raided, she provoked some hesitancy among her defenders, something which Rolston was swift to take advantage of - she blocked the 'keeper's attempted clearance.

The ball eventually found its way across to Innes, who somehow struck the side-netting with Esson and her team-mates desperately scrambling across their goalmouth in an effort to deter the winger in her attempt to double Northern's lead.

A second goal wasn't far away, however, but not before Rolston had volleyed over the top after Seatter, Berger, Rood and O'Brien had combined to good effect in the 53rd minute, with a goal-kick the result.

It reached half-way, where Harrison was lurking on the left. She spotted Rolston's run through the inside-right channel and flighted a measured ball into her stride. The prolific markswoman, who missed the majority of the season due to a nagging injury, finished with aplomb on this occasion, neatly controlling the sphere before steering it beyond Esson's despairing dive into the far corner of the net.

Game over, seemingly. With Longo being well contained by Northern, Mainland offered little in the way of an alternative attacking approach. But the gifted midfield maestro still managed to find a way to create problems for the visitors, with her 55th minute through ball from half-way prompting a volleyed strike from Barker which Nayler tipped round the post.

The resulting corner was cleared by Seatter to Burrows, who instantly linked with O'Brien for Rood's benefit. The speedster was a constant menace to Mainland's back-line, and on this occasion attempted to chip Esson from distance. Her effort drifted past the far post.

Cue the start of the substitutions which regularly punctuated the final half-hour of proceedings. These included Aimee Phillips' return to her old stamping ground, but this time being her first appearance since making her Football Ferns' debut, something in which her Mainland fans take great pride, despite the fact she was playing for their opponents in this match.

Northern's other attackers continued to threaten, however. Berger and Seatter ignited another attack in the 66th minute, with Harrison, Cleverley and Innes all involved before Rolston was sent dashing through on goal.

Esson saved at her feet on this occasion, and her clearance downfield looked to have been dealt with comfortably by Northern's defence, until Bott made a horrendous misjudgement with a back-pass towards Nayler. Proctor said "Thanks very much" and on her farewell appearance before marriage and relocation, fair battered the ball past the stranded 'keeper to put Mainland back in the contest - 2-1 after 67 minutes.

Northern stepped up their attacking endeavours, knowing full well that the scoreline as it stood did not fairly reflect the game and their dominance of it. Twelve minutes from time, Phillips combined with Rood to play in Innes, but she shot straight at Esson.

The 'keeper hadn't a prayer four minutes later, however, and while it was a contentious goal, it was one of the highest quality. Nayler threw the ball out to substitute Belinda Van Noorden, in space on the left. She lobbed the ball over the top for Rolston, who appeared to be in an offside position upon receipt of the ball, but obviously wasn't when it was played in the eyes of FIFA Women's World Cup semi-final flag-bearer Sarah Walker.

What followed was sumptuous skill. Rolston controlled the ball, deftly evaded one challenger, flicked the ball over another, then, as it dropped, uncorked a sublime volleyed lob over Esson and into the back of the net - if ever a goal deserved to win a national final, it was this one! Brilliantly conceived and executed.

And still they pressed. Harrison fired in a free-kick three minutes later which Rolston headed against the crossbar. Rood chested home the rebound, but again fell foul of the offside flag.

Cue an 88th minute attack which culminated in Esson bringing Phillips to earth, and referee Keighley pointing to the penalty spot. Her Northern team-mates all wanted the substitute to take it, but Phillips' body language was of the "anyone but me" variety. She bowed to her peers' wishes, however, and duly sent Esson the wrong way - 4-1 in the 89th minute.

A minimum of five minutes of stoppage time was signalled, and in that time, Mainland reduced the deficit not once but twice. Firstly, Barker punished Northern's sluggishness in clearing their lines with a shot which flew past Nayler and ricocheted in off the post - a late consolation goal, seemingly.

Not so. When Keighley deemed Nayler guilty of picking up a back-pass from Berger - how it be considered as such given the defender was averting the danger posed by a lofted ball in towards their penalty area defies logic - it gave Mainland the chance to reduce the deficit still further.

Sure enough, they did, Longo masterminding operations over the indirect free-kick which had been awarded, then hammering home Ward's pass from same to make it 4-3, with time still on the clock.

It wasn't enough to allow Mainland to pull off the most unlikely of comebacks and force extra-time, much to the home fans' disappointment, but it certainly gave Northern a scare at the death in a final which saw the new champions prove far superior to their predecessors right across the park, and now they've got the silverware to prove it.

2015 MATCH REPORT - FINAL

Glenfield Rovers comfortably retained the ASB National Women's Knockout Cup at Trusts Stadium on 20 September, cruising to a 4-0 victory over Massey University to claim the trophy for the third time in five seasons.

Massey began the match brightly, Jane Barnett testing Pam Yates after just twenty seconds, before being denied by the goalkeeper in the fifth minute after being played through by Imogen Bos.

Rovers' response was to the point and direct - very direct, in fact. From a corner, no less, Estelle Harrison's set piece delivery arcing into the net without intervention from another party in the thirteenth minute of play, much to the delight of the scorer, who would later be named winner of the Maia Jackman Trophy, the honour for the Cup Final's star individual.

Massey were stunned by this setback, and looked to respond instantly. Amber Phillips picked out Barnett, who released the overlapping figure of Sarah Morton at pace down the right. Her cross for Rhonda Bridges was plucked off her head by Yates, who instantly ignited a counter-attack which featured Rebecca Burrows' cross-field pass to send Briar McNamara motoring down the right.

There was no one up in support when she delivered her cross, but when Rovers next attacked, in the seventeenth minute, Liz Milne's corner picked out Bridgette Armstrong, whose looping volley arced inches over the bar, much to the relief of on-looking goalkeeper Nicolette Adamson.

Rovers continued to press, McNamara pulling her shot across the face of goal after Jess Innes lobbed one over the top for her speedy team-mate to exploit. But this incident apart, there was little end product for all the holders' endeavours, and as the half wore on Massey looked the side more likely to score next.

To this end, Barnett was their key outlet. Her twenty-yarder, following a Siobhan Patterson pass, caught Yates' attention just shy of the half-hour mark, while nine minutes later Sarah Morton's superb work down the right culminated in her playing a one-two with the free-scoring striker, the overlapping fullback's enterprising raid culminating in a shot which beat Yates but flashed narrowly past the far post.

Two goals in as many minutes in the shadows of the half-time whistle killed the game as a contest. The first, in the 43rd minute, saw Belinda Van Noorden splendidly head home another Harrison corner.

Two minutes later, Burrows battered a twenty-five yarder towards the target. Adamson parried the effort, but was powerless to prevent Stacey Hallford from hammering home the rebound to put Glenfield 3-0 up and on easy street.

The students had to be first to score in the second spell, and they sought to do just that early on. Sarah Morton - Massey's best player on the day - intercepted a pass before linking with Bos and Bridges, who got the better of Yates in the area, only to be forced wide by the 'keeper.

Bridges' subsequent cross wasn't much chop, and Rovers promptly streamed downfield and earned themselves another corner. Once more, Harrison delivered quality, and once more Massey failed to clear their lines, Milne administering suitable punishment from three yards - 4-0, with just 53 minutes on the clock.

That effectively killed the contest, and Burrows came close to making it a nap hand for Rovers five minutes later. Robbing Jess Oulaghan on the edge of the penalty area, the midfield general unleashed an instant snapshot which Adamson grabbed greedily.

Seconds later, Van Noorden and Phillips tangled, with the ball breaking kindly for Innes, who unleashed a first-time screamer which careered past Adamson and crashed against the post before rebounding to safety.

Innes was involved again moments later, Van Noorden flicking on the midfielder's cross into the stride of substitute Sonja Bain, who sidestepped the challenge of Charlotte Gordon before letting fly. Adamson saved at the second attempt, her first attempt seeing the ball go between her legs.

That was Gordon's last contribution to the contest, the fullback having to be stretchered off after aggravating the knee injury which she carried into the final. Her team-mates' task now centred on trying to score a consolation goal, to which end Barnett went close twenty minutes from time, firing past both Yates and the right-hand post after Phillips had released her at pace.

After Bain and Innes had stung the palms of Adamson from distance, another Harrison corner twelve minutes from time had Massey at sixes and sevens - they really struggled to cope with her deliveries all game long. This one picked out the head of Milne, but Rose Morton's intervention prevented Glenfield's captain from doubling her tally for the half.

Burrows went close soon after with a twenty-five yard curler, before Yates raced out to block at the feet of Bos in stoppage time, preventing Massey from securing the consolation goal they sought, and ensuring Glenfield would clinch the trophy for the second successive year, this time without conceding a goal in all the ties they played - the first the cup-winning side has achieved this feat since 2002.
